Arts et Métiers ParisTech has its own Contractual Research Structure, the AMVALOR. The AMVALOR provides logistical support and manages research contracts signed with business partners. Arts et Métiers ParisTech and AMVALOR have been awarded Institut Carnot* status for their AMVALOR research structure (Research Activities for Technology and Society): the ARTS_Institut_Carnot.

* Carnot certification, which is awarded by the state to public research bodies, is part of the French government's "Pact for Research" package of measures. It is designed to promote the development of research based on partnership.
